Bankers in the News

Chris McQuillan, First State Bank of Loomis (Loomis), was recently selected to participate in the first Leadership Holdrege class. The class aims to inspire, connect, educate and engage leaders in Phelps County to make a stronger impact in their workplaces and the community.

Banks in the News

American Exchange Bank (Elmwood) recently donated $18,000 to The Lofte Theatre in Manley for the purchase of a 20-foot screen projector system.

Cedar Security Bank (all branches) served as designated drop-off location for the Cedar County Cares Giving Tree which collected items for local children in need. The program has helped 89 children during this holiday season.

Customer Federal State Bank and Farmers & Merchants Bank (both of Kearney), contributed monetary donations to Goodfellows to provide kids in need with warm winter clothing, including coats, hats, boots and gloves. Goodfellows also partners with Kearney Kiwanis clubs to provide back-to-school backpacks, so all kids are well-equipped at the beginning of the school year.

Dundee Bank (Omaha) employees helped spread holiday cheer by giving away envelopes containing two crisp $20 bills and instructions to complete strangers. The perfect strangers are asked to keep $20 and give away $20 to a person or cause of their choice.

First National Bank of Omaha (Omaha) purchased and is sponsoring the Santa station at Indian Creek Mall. The bank is donating the proceeds to a variety of nonprofits, including the Beatrice Human Society.

Genoa Community Bank (Genoa) teamed up with Genoa Community Volunteers and Twin River’s Future Business Leaders of America chapter to fulfill the Christmas wishes of local children in need.

Mainstreet Bank (Syracuse) held an open house Dec. 10 to celebrate the opening of their new branch location in the Syracuse Business Center. (pictured right)
MNB Bank (McCook) employees collected over $1,000 to donate to the McCook Community Foundation in memory of former banker, Peter M. Graff. (pictured right)

Nebraska State Bank (Broken Bow) employees donated $560 to the Children’s Christmas Fund during the month of November. Throughout the year, bank employees contribute $5 on Fridays to wear jeans. The monthly donations go toward a different service organization or charity in the Custer County area.

Washington County Bank (Blair) recently donated $21,000 to 69 local nonprofits in conjunction with their “Mortgage That Give Back” program. For every home mortgage that closed in 2019, Washington County Bank pledged a $100 donation and mortgage customers were able to select the local nonprofit organization of their choice.
